SUMMARY (TWELFTH CHAPTER)

Note: 1. Portions in brackets are supplied ideas.

2. Numbers in brackets indicate the verses.

(The eleventh chapter has paved the way for virād-bhakti. So, in the twelfth chapter, the Lord deals with all aspects of bhakti leading to liberation.)

The chapter begins with Arjuna's question seeking to know whether $vir\bar{a}d$ -bhakta (saguṇabhakta) or akṣara-bhakta (nirguṇa-bhakta) is superior (1).

Lord Kṛṣṇa first answers that saguṇabhakta is superior. (In fact, we cannot compare them. Everyone has to go through both and one can reach the Lord through nirguṇabhakti alone, which the Lord himself points out in the 4th verse. Still the Lord praises saguṇabhakta because of the context.) (2)

From the 3rd verse to the 12th verse, $K_r s_n a$ gives out the entire range of bhakti which leads to liberation. In the first three verses (3 to 5) $K_r s_n a$ talks about nirgunabhakti which is $j\tilde{n}\bar{a}nayoga$ and which is the direct means for liberation. But, the Lord points out that this will be difficult for unprepared people (5).

From the 6th verse to the 8th verse, the Lord speaks about the next lower stage in the form of $vir\bar{a}d$ - $up\bar{a}san\bar{a}$. He promises that such $up\bar{a}saka$ will be rescued from $sams\bar{a}ra$ by the Lord. (This does not mean that a $vir\bar{a}d$ - $up\bar{a}saka$ can get liberation, skipping $j\bar{n}\bar{a}nayoga$. The idea is that he becomes fit for $j\bar{n}\bar{a}nayoga$ and attains liberation through knowledge.)

In the 9th verse, the Lord comes one more step down. If one is incapable of $vir\bar{a}d$ - $up\bar{a}san\bar{a}$, let him practice meditation on any form of the Lord ($istadevat\bar{a}$ - $up\bar{a}san\bar{a}$). Thus, $up\bar{a}san\bar{a}$ (on $vir\bar{a}d$ or $istadevat\bar{a}$) becomes the preparatory step for $jn\bar{a}nayoga$.

In the next verse (10th), the Lord comes down further. If a person is too extrovert to take up $up\bar{a}san\bar{a}$, he is asked here to perform his duty (nitya and naimittika) as an offering to the Lord ($\bar{I}svar\bar{a}rpanam$) without expecting any reward.

When a person is full of desires, he is impelled to do desire-born actions $(k\bar{a}mya)$ expecting results. For such a person Krsna prescribes the last step. When he receives the result of $k\bar{a}mya$ -karmas, let him take it as a $pras\bar{a}da$ (graceful gift) of the Lord and avoid reaction. Krsna indicates this through the word ' $sarvakarmaphalaty\bar{a}gam$ ' (11).

The above two steps come under karmayoga. (A $karmayog\bar{i}$ becomes fit for $up\bar{a}san\bar{a}$ after some time. $Up\bar{a}san\bar{a}$ makes him qualified for $j\bar{n}\bar{a}nayoga$. $J\bar{n}\bar{a}na$ helps him discover his own true everfree nature.)

Kṛṣṇa concludes this topic by praising the last step of karmayoga (12).

From the 13th verse up to the 19th verse, Kṛṣṇa gives a clear picture of the characteristics of one who has gone through all these steps and discovered fulfillment. [As a karmayogī and upāsaka he was a devotee of saguṇa-īśvara, seeing the Lord as distinct from him. This is only lower bhakti, because he does not know the true nature of the Lord still (Refer VII-17). His bhakti is saguṇabhakti or bhedabhakti or aparā bhakti. Once he pursues jñānayoga and discovers his identity with the Lord, his bhakti becomes nirguṇabhakti or abhedabhakti or parā bhakti, which is an end in itself.] In these verses Kṛṣṇa describes the traits of a parabhakta who is a sthitaprajña (Refer II-55 to 72). (This serves twofold purpose. Firstly, it is an inspiration for a seeker to pursue his sādhanam. Secondly, the natural traits of a parabhakta serve as values for a sādhaka to be deliberately practised.)

This portion can be broadly divided into two. One referring to those virtues which a parabhakta spontaneously enjoys, and the second, referring to those negative traits which he is totally free from.

SUMMARY

Thus the main topics in this chapter are:
1. Arjuna's question and Kṛṣṇa's answer
2. The five stages of bhakti (prasādabuddhi, istadevatā-upāsanā, virāḍ-upāsanā and akṣara-upāsanā viz. jñānayoga)
3. Traits of parabhakta (parabhaktalakṣaṇa)13 to 19
4. Glory of the teaching
Since this chapter talks about all stages of bhakti, this i called 'Bhaktiyoga'.
